DENVER—Two Roads Hospitality has revealed its developing three Thompson Hotels located in Texas. Slated to launch in 2018, Thompson Dallas at The Drever will be the lifestyle brand's first entry into the state, followed by properties in both San Antonio and Houston.

“We've wanted to bring the Thompson Hotels brand to Texas for a long time. The state is home to some of America's fastest growing cities, each rich in history, culinary and the arts,” said Niki Leondakis, CEO of Hotels & Resorts, Two Roads Hospitality. “We're excited for Thompson to inject new life into downtown Dallas, San Antonio, and Houston, and we are collaborating with leading Texas developers and architects who are deeply rooted in the Lone Star state to bring locally inspired design and amenities to our guests.”

Thompson Dallas at The Drever will be part of The Drever, a 50-story, 1.5-million-sq.-ft., mixed-used tower and it's being developed by Drever Capital Management. The 217-room hotel will be restored by Merriman Anderson/Architects. The Drever is currently downtown Dallas' largest adaptive renewal project.

Slated to launch in 2019, the 167-room, 20-story Thompson San Antonio is being led by DC Partners, a Houston-based developer and San Antonio-based Universal Service Group.

Thompson Houston will be the third Texas property to open, and will be ushered in by DC Partners and Tianqing Real Estate Development based in China.
